X-rays are commonly produced in X-ray tubes by accelerating electrons through a potential difference. Another electron may fill the vacancy and in so doing release an X-ray photon of a specific energy (a characteristic X-ray).

Awesome Accuracy.

Caption.Ed is powered by best in class AI speech to text, giving you great accuracy out of the box.

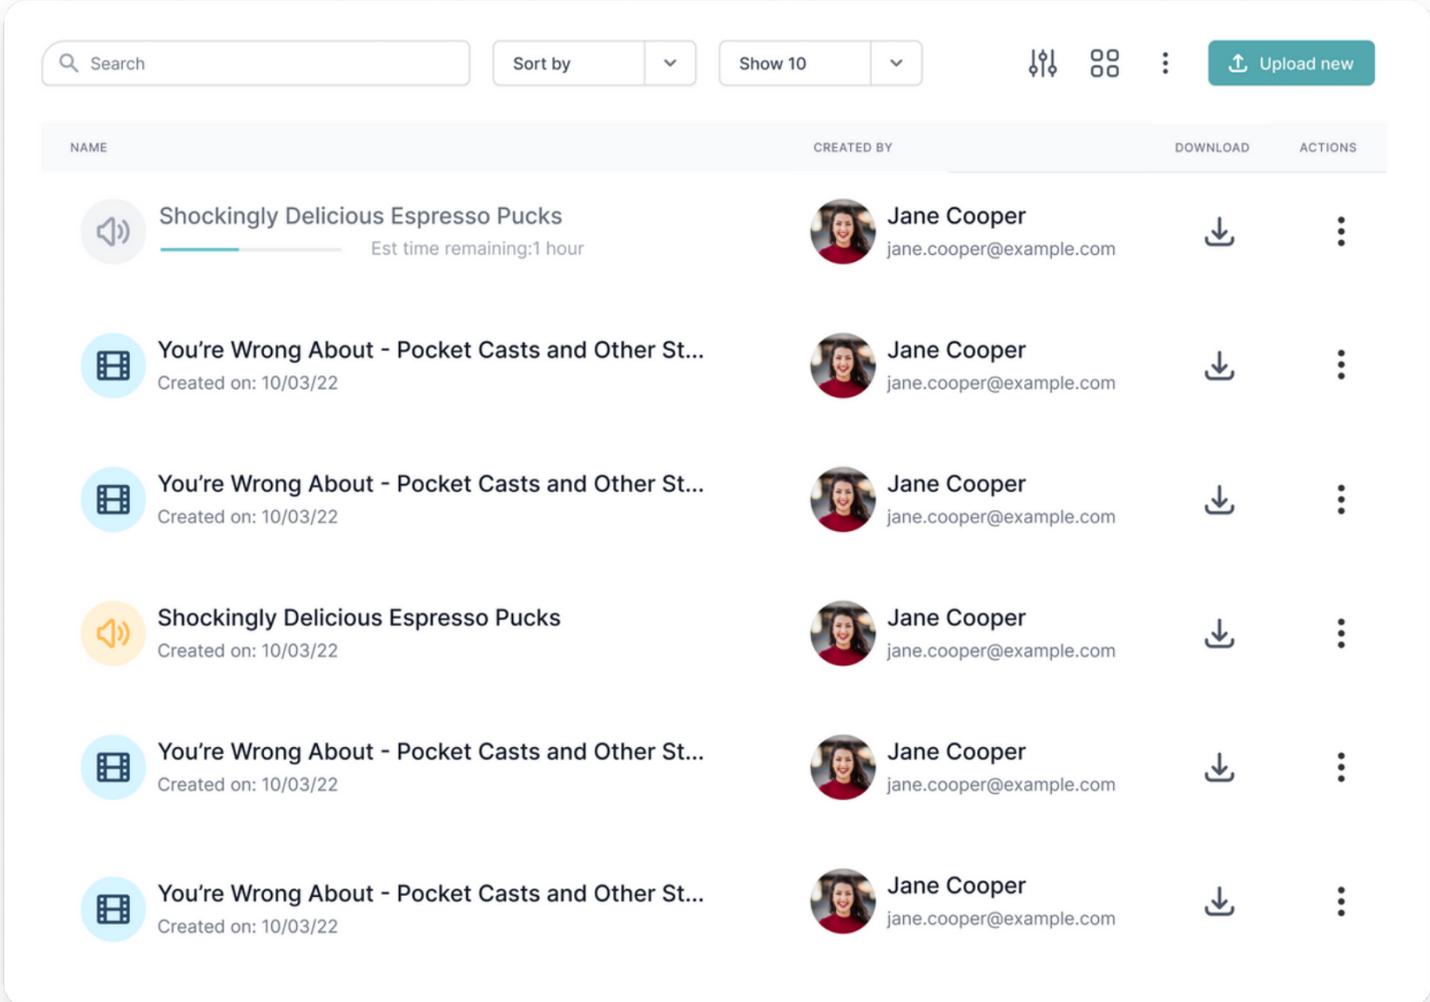

Unobtrusive interface.

Caption.Ed is designed to be unobtrusive when taking notes. The application takes up only a small proportion of the screen, and can be customised to suit the users visual preferences.

Export your info.

Customers can access a full editable transcript after any session alongside their notes. They can then export their transcript in a variety of formats including VTT and SRT.

The screenshot displays a user interface for managing recordings. At the top, there is a search bar, a 'Sort by' dropdown menu, a 'Show 10' dropdown menu, and an 'Upload new' button. Below this is a table with columns for 'NAME', 'CREATED BY', 'DOWNLOAD', and 'ACTIONS'. The table contains six rows of recordings, each with a unique icon (speaker or film strip), a title, a creation date, a user profile picture, and a name. The first row includes a progress bar and an estimated time remaining of 1 hour. Each row has a download icon and a three-dot menu icon in the 'ACTIONS' column.

Take notes on the fly.

New for 2022, Caption.Ed provides a full suite of note taking capabilities. Record your meeting or lecture, transcribe what was said and add your notes directly into Caption.Ed. Your notes are time-stamped to the recording so you can easily go back and review them later.
