The Magic Five

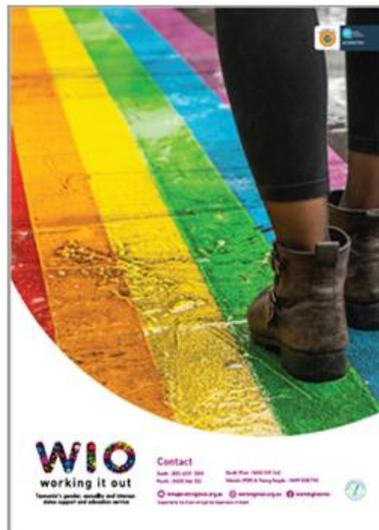

Five action areas in LGBTIQ+ inclusive practice

1. Signal Safety: Display posters & allyship

General Poster

Service Poster

2. Use Inclusive Language

Gender neutral

Do not assume heterosexuality, or cis gendered
(ie identifying with the sex assigned at birth)

Do not confuse sexuality, gender, intersex

Use pronouns that match gender identity

What do I say?

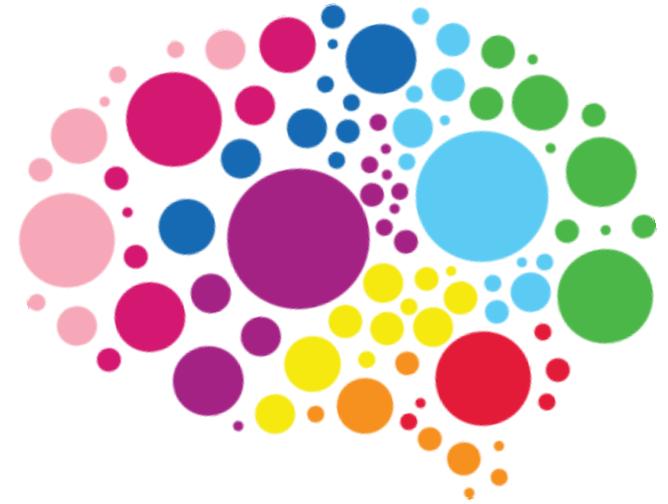

Be proactive:

“Hi, I’m Alex Smith. My pronouns are she/her – they/them – he/him etc”

“What pronouns do you use? (not ‘prefer’)”

Apologies quickly if you make a mistake (we all do):

‘She said, sorry, he said

3. Build inclusive systems & processes – forms, policies, facilities

1→ What is your gender? <ul style="list-style-type: none"><input type="checkbox"/> A Male<input type="checkbox"/> B Female<input type="checkbox"/> C Non-binary<input type="checkbox"/> D Transgender<input type="checkbox"/> E Intersex<input type="checkbox"/> F I prefer not to say Getting there...	1→ What is your gender? <ul style="list-style-type: none"><input type="checkbox"/> A Male<input type="checkbox"/> B Female<input type="checkbox"/> C Non-binary<input type="checkbox"/> D Transgender<input type="checkbox"/> E Intersex<input type="checkbox"/> F Let me type...<input type="checkbox"/> G I prefer not to say Pretty good!

Follow the 2020 Standard for Sex, Gender, Variations of Sex Characteristics and Sexual Orientation

4. Affirm, celebrate and include

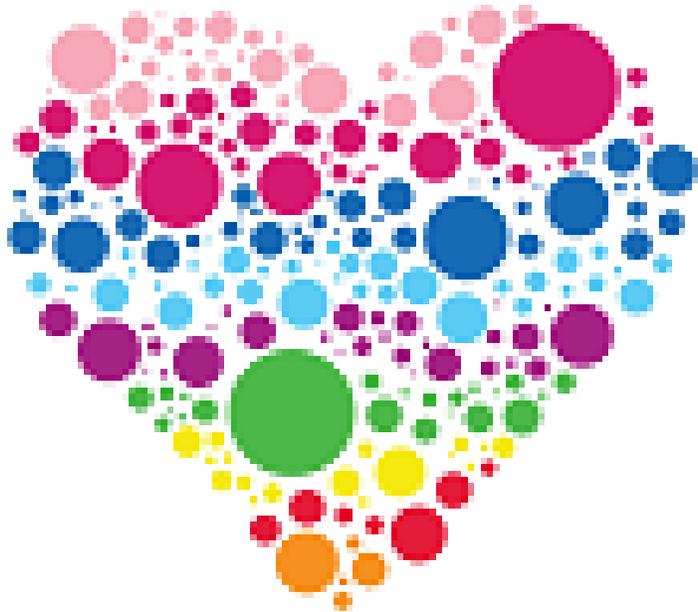

Include in everyday cases studies, curricula – not as a ‘special case’ but just as part of the variety of humanity

Celebrate – special days, events

Make sure events and activities are inclusive of diverse identities and abilities

5. Respect

Don't ask intrusive questions about people's bodies or sex lives – curiosity is not a mandate to ask.

Keep moral or religious views to yourself.

Be mindful of the harm public discourses about other people's lives can have.

History

Many people carry with them the scars of past trauma, discrimination and legal processes.

This can make people hyper-vigilant which may look like service avoidance and/or over-reacting to events.
